

BOLD ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP BABY*STRANGE WOMAN THROWS ACID
IN FACE OF MRS. TOM EADS, BUT MOTHER SAVES CHILD

Although blinded by acid thrown into her eyes by a woman kidnaper Mrs. Thomas Eads, a prominent young matron of this county, fought so desperately for possession of her year old son about noon Thursday, that her assailant was forced to leave without the tiny bit of human booty sought, and to seek hasty flight in a big automobile which was waiting handy.

All yesterday afternoon Mrs. Eads' husband, her father J. D. Eads, one of the most prominent farmers of Lincoln county, and Sheriff W. L. McCarty and his deputies kept telephone wires in all directions through Central Kentucky hot in an effort to intercept a big yellow automobile and a well dressed man and woman who were bailed in their well laid kidnapping plans only by the ferocity of a mother's love.

Young Mr. Eads and his wife reside about five miles from Stanford on a branch of the pike to Hustonville, near Turnersville and near Peyton's Well. Mr. Eads had been away all morning, and left his young wife and their baby alone at home. Shortly before noon a well dressed man came to the door and inquired of Mrs. Eads if her husband was at home. On being informed that he was not, the stranger expressed regret, and said that with her permission he would look at some cattle in a neighboring pasture. She saw no more of him.

The baby became sleepy, so the mother was rocking him to sleep before preparing dinner, when she heard the noise of an automobile on the pike, a short distance in front of the house, and looking out saw a big yellow car pass, containing a man and woman, the latter handsomely dressed so much so that she attracted Mrs. Eads' particular attention. She was hailing her infant to sleep again when the woman who had just passed in the machine came to her door and asked the permission to sit and rest while her husband attended to some business down the road. Mrs. Eads readily gave her permission, and the visitor immediately became apparently greatly interested in the baby.

As Mrs. Eads undertook to lay him on a bed in another room, the woman followed her in and seemed desirous of getting her hands on the child. She soon left and Mrs. Eads went into the kitchen to prepare the noon-day meal. In a short time she detected a faint creaking of the screen door in front and instantly realized that some one was opening it. She hastened out and confronted her woman visitor of a few moments before.

Very glibly the woman explained that in putting the baby on the bed, a handsome diamond pin had probably become fastened in his little dress, and she had come back to look for it. The mother went with her into the room where the child lay asleep. The stranger picked the baby up, and as she did so, began to glance hurriedly from one side to another, at the same time quickly fumbling in a handbag which swung at her waist.

Mrs. Eads became alarmed at her actions, and reached for the baby, and caught it in her arms. Meanwhile, the stranger woman pulled a small flat out of her handbag and as the mother caught hold of her child the second time, the stranger dashed the flat contents of the bottle into her face.

The pain was severe. Mrs. Eads could hardly see, but in a frenzy she pulled the baby away from the stranger and in agony ran through the kitchen out the rear door of the house, to the cabin of a negro couple some distance away. The negro woman was at home, and fearing for her small pickaninny playing on the floor, bolted the door, and not until her husband returned home about an hour later was the alarm given and assistance to the injured woman summoned. Mr. Eads came quickly but no trace of the woman kidnaper could be seen. The woman had evidently hurried away the instant that she saw her plan foiled by the mother.

A physician who examined Mrs. Eads' injuries soon afterwards found that her left eye had received most of the contents of the bottle. He pronounced it a solution of hydrochloric acid, diluted sufficiently it is believed, to have blinded Mrs. Eads temporarily until her baby could be spirited away but not strong enough to permanently impair her sight.

Mrs. Eads was able to give a very accurate description of her strange visitor, for she was struck with the astuteness of her garments, her jewelry and diamonds and her general air of refinement and culture. She had instantly recognized her as the woman who had passed in the automobile with a man a few moments before she appeared at her home. The officers believe that the couple are certain to be caught within a few hours.

Mrs. Eads and her baby were brought to town to the residence of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carman last night where she will stay until she recovers from her injuries and the effects of such a harrowing experience. Before her marriage to Mr. Eads she was Miss Nettie Waller, a daughter of Capt. J. F. Waller, of Louisville, a well-known engineer on the L. & N.

Rev. Hoskins ResignsBAPTIST PASTOR WILL TAKE UP WORK IN OTHER FIELDS

At a business meeting of the membership of the Baptist church after prayer meeting services Wednesday night, the resignation of Rev. J. T. Hoskins, as pastor of the church, was accepted to take effect at once. The deacons and officers of the church were instructed to fill the pulpit as soon as possible. Rev. Hoskins was granted a month's vacation, a short time ago, but decided that it was best that he sever completely his relations with the local church to take up work in other fields. He has been the pastor here for about a year, having come from Todd county.

Thrown Off and HurtEX-SHERIFF HILL'S HORSE SCAR-ED BY AN AUTO.

Former Sheriff T. J. Hill was badly bruised and shaken up by being thrown from his saddle horse Wednesday, which took fright at Mr. Harry Jacobs, of McKinney's new automobile, on the Milledgeville pike, a few miles from town.

The automobile was coming toward Mr. Hill and he pulled his steed out of the way to give it room to pass. Mr. Jacobs is a careful driver and was not coming fast. Just before the auto reached him, however, Mr. Hill's horse gave a sudden swerve and jumped directly into the path of the oncoming machine, with its back toward it. It was impossible to stop it, so it struck the animal and it gave a leap, throwing Mr. Hill off and in front of the car. The brakes had been applied however, so that the car was stopped before Mr. Hill's prostrate body was reached. It was found that luckily no bones were broken, but he was considerably shaken up and was brought to his home in town.

Adams-DyePOPULAR YOUNG COUPLE ARE MARRIED IN CASEY.

A happy courtship of four years was joyously ended on Thursday Aug. 11th when Prof. James W. Dye and Miss Mamie Adams, a prominent young society couple of Middleburg, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, the venerable Rev. Joshua S. Taylor officiating. The young couple are well and popularly known over Casey and Lincoln counties; and their legion of friends of this section will be glad to hear of their happy union for life.

The same minister, who is now past three-score-and-ten, and a veteran of the Civil war, officiated at the marriage ceremonies of the parents and maternal grandparents of the groom.

The bride is a daughter of the late John S. Adams, and Mrs. Mary A. Adams, of Middleburg, and is a popular young school teacher of Casey and Lincoln counties. She is pretty and accomplished—and a talented musician.

The bride is a near relative of the late Col. Silas Adams, of Casey, and formerly representative in Congress from the Eleventh district; also a cousin of Hon. Napier Adams, Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The groom who is one of the best known young men of Casey is the only child of Postmaster, George W. Dye of Middleburg, and a grandson of the late Dr. J. T. Wesley, of Middleburg. His mother died about three years ago.

Maj. G. Wat. Dye and Dr. O. S. Wesley, of Danville are near relatives of the groom. He was educated in the public schools of Middleburg and Frankfort, the Bowling Green Business College and is a graduate of a Commercial College of Columbus, O.

He taught in the public schools of Casey and later, on the death of his mother, succeeded her as postmaster at Middleburg.

Prof. Dye at present is at the head of the Commercial department of the Stanford (Kansas) High school. Before locating in the West he held a similar position with the Bristol (Tenn.-Va.) Commercial College.

They will visit friends and relatives in Danville, Lexington, Ludlow and Louisville, Ky., and St. Joseph and St. Louis, Mo., and will be at home in Stanford, Kansas, after September 1st.

POLITICS WARMING UP IN GEORGIA*ED WALTON WRITES ANOTHER INTERESTING LETTER FROM ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 18. The gubernatorial race is on in earnest and much interest is being manifested. There are three entries, but the race is between present Gov. Brown and ex-Gov. Smith. A gentleman named Walker thinks he is running but he isn't. Ex-Gov. Smith spoke to an audience of 8,000 to 10,000 people a few nights ago and I never saw more enthusiasm than was apparent. Men yelled themselves hoarse, threw their hats away and did many other foolish things. It will be remembered that Gov. Brown defeated Mr. Smith two years ago for the gubernatorial nomination after a most exciting race in which much feeling was injected. I am not "onto" the situation, of course, but I predict he will defeat Mr. Smith by an increased majority on the 23rd of this month. Looks like to me the people are for Smith and the politicians are for Brown and my observation is that the politicians generally win. My brother Mr. T. R. Walton, well-known to most of the I. J. readers, is a Brown man but I have little or no choice between them. I could not vote here even if I were so inclined. The registration requires voters to register six months before primaries and regular elections. Another race that is attracting lots of attention is that for the democratic nomination for Congress. Present incumbent Lon Livingston is being opposed by William Schley Howard, at present Solicitor, Commonwealth's Attorney, as we Kentuckians would say. Mr. Livingston who is an old Confederate soldier has been in Congress for many years and has done good work for his constituents. In fact there are those who charge that he is better at getting things for Atlanta and her people than he is at voting with the democrats. His opponents oppose that he is a Czar Cannon's right hand bower and goes hand in hand with the Wall Street gang. The indications are that Mr. Livingston will serve at least one more term in the lower house at Washington.

A prominent and popular citizen of Atlanta is Mr. John R. Brooks, formerly of Crab Orchard, and brother of Will A. Brooks, known and admired by everybody in Stanford. He married a Miss Grimes, or Harrodsburg, and they have a beautiful home on Highland avenue, an excellent portion of the city. Their charming little daughter Miss Zilpah Brooks, is visiting relatives in Central Kentucky now. Mr. Brooks is connected with several big concerns here and is making good in all of them.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., convenes here the latter portion of this month and great preparations will be made to entertain the delegates. I hope the Stanford Lodge No. 156 will send representative or so and they will not forget that an old friend of theirs is still in the "Gate City" and wants to see any and all who come here from Stanford. Odd fellows are pretty numerous here and the order has been the source of much good.

I have embarked in the grocery business and have a right nice little store at 110 Richardson Street just around the corner from our home. I am not trying to do very much and am succeeding. Claiborne assists me and he and I run the business alone. He is by odds a better merchant than I am and but for his having to go to school early in September, I would turn the business over to him. He knows far more people than I do and has some lady customers who won't let me wait on them under any circumstances.

We still peruse the Interior Journal with great interest and have only one fault with it and that is, it does not come often enough. Wish Editor Sautley would follow in the footsteps of the Danville Advocate and issue a daily. Several death notices in its columns have caused sadness to us but the good news "cheapest and best" brings out weighs the unwelcome items. Am glad to see the advertising patronage holding up so well. It means that the merchants are abreast with the times and that the Interior is a first-class advertising medium. Atlanta merchants believe in the use of printer's ink and advertise in no other way save in the columns of the several daily papers here.

The negroes held a musical festival here last week that attracted much attention. The great prima donnas of the African race were here and they yelled loud and long. The festival was a decided success and others will be held yearly. The great auditorium was used and the seating capacity was taxed.

I used to greatly enjoy going to the fairs and many times I have thought of "old Kaintuck" since the fair season begun. I am not exactly homesick but just want "see the old folks at home" you know. I see from the papers that the same old blue tie wearers are doing business. I wonder how a fair would look without Mack Hughes, Charley Sandidge, Matt Cohen and many others I have seen in the fair rings since I was a child? And too I wonder if when these gentlemen get too old to ride and drive if the fair enterprise won't lose some interest to the public?

Speaking of fairs, Atlanta will have a great one early in October. I hope to see some Lincoln county horses and horsemen here. I believe the former can win anywhere and it would do me very good to see my Central Kentucky horsemen here during the gala fair week.

The Legislature adjourned Wednesday after a very dull and unprofitable session. The body was pretty well divided between Smith and Brown men and the fear of helping one side or hurting the other kept down any good work that might have been accomplished. It would be a great thing for the democratic party of Georgia if both Smith and Brown could be relegated to the rear and a good conservative man placed in the gubernatorial chair. Until both the Brown and Smith factions are eliminated there will be trouble in democratic ranks in Georgia.

E. C. WALTON.

92d AnniversaryCELEBRATED JOYOUSLY BY
"AUNT SALLIE" MURPHY.

Middleburg, Aug. 18.

It was our good fortune to be present at the Murphy reunion at Pleasant Point church in Lincoln county last Friday Aug. 12. The occasion being the 92d anniversary of Mrs. Sallie Murphy or "Aunt Sallie" as she is familiarly known. There were some 200 or more people present, and the day was spent in song and preaching services at the church. The children and friends of this aged mother had prepared a splendid dinner which was spread everybody was invited. Revs. A. G. Coker and J. A. Singleton conducted the preaching services the former preaching in the forenoon and the latter in the afternoon. The services were quite impressive and enjoyed by those present. Having been intimately acquainted with this aged mother for some 23 years, and opportunity has been afforded us to know something of her life. She has been quite a stout woman and a very industrious one. And even now at her extreme age, she is content unless engaged at some kind of work.

She is the mother of 13 children seven of whom are living. Those living are Mrs. Parmella Wall, Mrs. Lela Singleton, Mrs. Bettie A. Singleton, Mrs. T. S. Benson, and Mrs. William Trimble, and Messrs. W. M. and M. J. Murphy. The grandmother of 62 children 41 of whom are living. Mrs. Richard, of near Stanford being one of them. The great grandmother of 73 grandchildren 62 of which are living. And six great great children all living.

A little son of W. F. Wall who lives two miles east of Yosemite died last Thursday after only a few days illness and was buried at Green river church.

The meeting at Green river church continues at this writing and will likely run through this week. Large crowds attend the night services and the interest is unabating.

Rev. J. W. Arnold came over from Georgetown Saturday and filled Rev. James Balentine's appointment at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

J. K. Coffey, W. E. Lucas and Miss Salma Jones went to Ellisburg this Tuesday to attend the Baptist Association. Mrs. S. T. Benson attended the reunion of the Murphy family at Kingsville Friday last.

Secret Leaked OutPLEASANT POINT COUPLE WERE MARRIED HERE IN JULY

Pleasant Point, Aug. 18. Hutton Carrier and Miss Bertha Brown were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at Stanford on July 8th. Their motive was to keep it a secret but having failed to do so we will not hesitate in making it known to the many readers of the I. J.

W. C. Alford sold to Hen Young a cow and calf for $25.

Lloyd Padgett bought of Rev. J. A. Singleton three hogs at a fancy price. Mrs. Wm. Moffet and handsome daughter of Cynthia, have been the guest of Joseph Moffet. Mrs. W. S. Houston is spending a few days with Lexington friends and relatives. Mrs. C. C. Jeffries has returned home after a protracted visit to her mother at Ludlow. Jas. Jenkins and wife were visiting at Waynesburg.

The family reunion which was held at the Baptist church in honor of "Aunt" Sallie Murphy's 92d birthday was in every way an enjoyable occasion. Services were conducted by Revs. Coker and Singleton. A large number were present with well filled baskets. Aunt Sallie is the mother of 13 children 7 of which are living. They are Messdames Thos. Benson, R. A. Singleton, Josiah Singleton, Wm. Trimble, Green Wall, Messrs. W. M. and J. G. Murphy. The number of grandchildren is 62, 41 living. Great grandchildren 73, 62 living and great great grandchildren 6, all living. The five different generations were represented at the gathering.

Mrs. Jacob Nance entertained a few of her friends on Thursday eve in honor of her guest, Mrs. A. C. Griffin, of W. Va. After a nice supper having been served her guests were then entertained with music which was rendered by Miss Maude Brown, Mrs. W. B. King and Joseph Seaton.

Farmers are very busy sowing buckwheat and sowing tobacco.

A revival will begin at the Baptist church here on Tuesday evening Aug. 23. Rev. Ward, of Missouri who served as pastor 21 years ago will do the preaching. Rev. Blain will preach at the Christian church at Kings Mountain on Sunday evening at 7:30.

Little Miss Dale Deatheridge is recovering from an attack of fever.

E. V. Long is still suffering with gout.

Miss Margaret Rouser, who is ill in Lexington is expected home soon.

Wm. Griffin died at the home of J. T. Griffin at the hour of midnight

High TributeTO VALIANT MORGAN'S MAN PAID BY JUDGE ALCORN

Judge J. W. Alcorn and several other Confederates of Lincoln county and this section, have just returned from Park's Hill, Nicholas county, where they attended the annual reunion of Morgan's Men. At the calling of the roll, when the name of Judge M. C. Sautley, of Stanford the second vice president of the association, was called, Judge Alcorn, of Stanford, arose and briefly addressed Gen. Duke and the comrades, in which he feelingly and touchingly announced the sudden death of Judge Sautley at his home last Friday. He paid a brief but impressive tribute to his departed comrade, and said that only a short time ago in discussing with some comrades the certainty of death ever long, he said that Judge Sautley said that he had but one request to make, and that was that when he died that a Confederate flag be laid upon his breast. Judge Alcorn stated that that request was carried out and Judge Sautley was buried with the "stars and bars" resting upon his bosom.

Gen. B. W. Duke was re-elected president and Green R. Keller re-elected secretary, and all other officers of the association were re-elected. Col. Hawthorn was elected third Vice President to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Sautley. The rank of General was conferred by the association upon Col. Green R. Keller and Col. H. M. Taylor, of Carlisle.

Prof. WiggintonTO RETURN TO TEACH IN HIGH SCHOOL HERE

J. M. Wigginton, of Stamping Ground, Scott county, has been elected professor of the High School, to succeed Prof. G. C. Deemer, who tendered his resignation to city board of education a short time ago. Prof. Wigginton is well known here having taught the high schools a few terms ago, and a great many will be glad that he is to return.

Information has been received that the University of Virginia regards the work of the Stanford High School so highly that it will receive graduates from the local institution without examination. Thomas Bright, who was one of the graduates last year will matriculate at this far famed institution of learning this fall.

Turnersville.

The renowned Elixir Springs under the supervision of the polite and gentlemanly Mr. Sims had a great day Sunday Aug. 14. The Mcainney band made excellent music to the large audience of about 200 in number, who enjoyed themselves immensely. Several attended from here.

Mr. Johnnie Carter is building a large tobacco barn here.

Mr. George Lunsford bought a saddle mare from Charles Beagle at a fancy price.

Messrs. Durham and Reynolds are finishing threshing from the shock in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Sallie Goode continues ill. Several of this place attended the Association at Ellisburg this week.

Mr. J. W. Peak while driving nails in his new house has been keeping time to a merry tune as he and his family have the whooping cough.

Mr. John Moser has this community tree on the tobacco proposition. The two top leaves on a plant were measured and found to be seven feet four inches from tip to tip.

Miss Mattie McWhorter is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ida Gaddberry at Ellisburg. Miss Sue Dollins has been visiting Mr. V. Kennedy at Stanford. Master Jeff Short is visiting the correspondent.

Mr. John Lunsford is in Lexington on business. Master John Walker Lubbie is visiting his friends Robert and James Hubble.
